How to read this list

Our wines are grouped first by style — sparkling, white, rosé, and red — and then by where they are grown, moving from the north of Italy down to the south, before a small selection from the rest of the world. A dot beside a wine's name (●) means it is also poured by the glass, in 125ml and 175ml measures (sparkling wines in 125ml only), priced below.
